A. Examination of the latest Alumni Directory from the National War College lends itself to some analysis on predicting chances of NWC military graduates becoming Generals or Admirals. My tabulations may prove of interest.

From the classes from 1958 through 1963:

69 earned stars, of the 576 still on active duty
0 earned stars, of the 6 who died while in service
3 earned stars, of the 25 who retired from service

From the classes from 1947 through 1957:

328 earned stars, of the 481 still on active duty
22 earned stars, of the 38 who died while in service
358 earned stars, of the 533 who retired from service

Although few are tapped in the first three years after graduation, about 15-20% make it in the 4th or 5th year and the odds are overwhelming that an alumnus still in service will have one or more stars by his 10th Reunion.

B. It will be reasonably soon that some activity will develop which will require approval action by the Training Selection Board:

1. By 13 January, two nominations are due at Ft. Belvoir to fill our quota in the next Army Management Orientation course. This one-week course is for super-grades.

While we are adjusting to the new system of selection, I have instructed ETB to keep [REDACTED] posted on any information we glean about nominees or applicants. At the moment, word has reached us that [REDACTED] is personally requesting consideration for an NIPA Award. Also, since [REDACTED] heretofore made all nominations for the Belvoir courses and we have heard nothing from him to date, we are asking Elmer to ascertain whether DDS continues to be interested or if other major components should be informed.

C. [REDACTED] referred to us a communication from a widow of a former SR contract agent requesting scholarship aid for her son's college education. The inquiry was received in time for me to send back detailed information and to recommend that the boy apply for the Maryland State Senatorial Scholarships; the student is currently a senior in a Silver Spring high school. He has earned more A's than B's in a tough college preparatory program and the circumstances seem to deserve additional accommodation.

D. [REDACTED] continued absence has indelibly impressed upon me and [REDACTED] the myriad of diversified requests for college information and assistance that get referred here. Yesterday I interviewed a candidate for the Information Specialist position. I'm quite satisfied with her, if she really wants the position and meets with DTR's approval.

E. [REDACTED] chatted with me about the forthcoming Security Reindoctrination Program. Bob now plans to open in the last week of January, with a preview by OS officials. Starting date is contingent upon final processing of a technicolor film print. Other arrangements seem to be under control.

F. Revised [REDACTED] issued 22 November 1963, assigns to OCR responsibility for "arranging, coordinating, and recording briefings, debriefings, and tours conducted in the headquarters area for officials of other U. S. Government Departments and Agencies" Further, "OCR shall schedule, make physical arrangements for, conduct, and record participation in such briefings, debriefings, and tours." An example cited as being under OCR's purview for purposes of this program is: "students attending U. S. Government Institutions (Intelligence Schools, Foreign Service Institute, Air Academy, etc.)"

The changed provisions of [REDACTED] as noted above, apparently relieve OTR of its responsibility as coordinating agent and, specifically, the Registrar/TR from his assignment as Project Officer in planning and arranging all program and logistical details involved in periodic visits to the headquarters building by students, faculty, and staff officials of the National War College and the FSI Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy. I'll play it by ear until the case arises again and if the intent of the regulation is to change the earlier practice, I'll turn my files over to OCR.

G. Per [REDACTED] instructions via phone, I will be the Agency representative at Thursday's meeting of the Interagency Advisory Group at the new CSC building. Harry tells me that the two topics scheduled to be discussed are the Kings Point Academy and the closing of DOD installations.

H. It was good to have three former employees from our summer augmentation drop in during the holidays. We saw [REDACTED], 25X1A9a [REDACTED]. Since Mike is considering that he will transfer from Princeton to complete his education locally, we took time out to discover that Georgetown would be a poor bet because of credit lost through transfer regulations. On the other hand, AU's School of International Service may prove to have the most liberal transfer arrangement as well as a good academic program along Mike's interest field.
